2018 Social Science Education Consortium International Conference

Democracy at a Crossroads: Examining the Past and Facing the Future

The 2018 Social Science Education Consortium (SSEC) International Conference will be held in Florence, Italy, from June 5, 2018 through June 10, 2018. Highlighting the conference's theme Democracy at a Crossroads: Examining the Past and Facing the Future, presenters and attendees will be given an opportunity to discuss the future of world democracy, by looking at recent historical cross-cultural phenomena and noting what these portend for social science and social studies educators now and in the future. Florence is the perfect site for this exploration, as it is an epicenter of the evolution of modern government, art, and socio-cultural constructs.
